What is Program Evaluation?
Program Evaluation (often referred to as Degree Audit) is a tool accessible from WebAccess that you can use in planning your academic program. You can view and print requirements for your academic program and even explore other programs.

Program Evaluation shows both completed courses and courses still needed in order to graduate from that program. The evaluation applies your completed coursework to your active degree program and will also allow you to see how your coursework applies to any other Onondaga program, using the “what-if” function. If you have questions on courses applying within requirements, please see your advisor.

How do I access my Program Evaluation?
Program Evaluation can be accessed via WebAccess under Academic Planning or under Academic Profile.

How do I read Program Evaluation?
Your evaluation may be several pages long. In order to help you understand the evaluation, please review through the rest of this brochure.

Is Program Evaluation a transcript?
The Program Evaluation is not the student's official academic record. The transcript is the official record of completed work and can be obtained from Student Central.

How does a “what-if” scenario work?
Through Program Evaluation, you can explore the many programs Onondaga offers. However, if you are changing your academic program, you must do so at Student Central. Using the “what-if” function does not officially change your program.

What if my Program is incorrect?
If your program is not correct in our records (i.e. if you decided to change your program, but never officially changed it via Student Central) your program evaluation will be incorrect. Your records need to be accurate in the system to provide you with accurate audit information.
Understanding Program Evaluation

To view your Program Evaluation, log on to WebAccess, click on the “students” button. Click on “Program Evaluation” (under Academic Profile on the right side). Click the box under “Choose One” to select your program or select a program in the “what if I changed my program” section. Click the submit button. Your program evaluation will be viewable on the screen and may be printed by selecting “File” and then “Print” from the upper left corner.

LEGEND

1. The date the evaluation was printed. Any changes after this date will not be reflected in the evaluation.
2. Program of Study: this is your curriculum/academic program.
3. Catalog: this is determined by the year/semester you started the academic program and is tied to specific degree requirements.
4. Anticipated Completion Date: this is an estimated completion date that is calculated based on when you started your program. It is not the actual graduation date.
5. Program GPA: the GPA for courses that can be applied to your program of study.
6. Advisor: your assigned academic advisor, typically within your program of study.
7. Program Status: this is the overall status towards program completion.
   - In-Progress – there are remaining program requirements to be satisfied
   - Anticipated Complete – will meet program requirements based on successful course completion
   - Complete – met program requirements
   - Not Started - not begun program requirements
